

THE INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES OPPORTUNITY

Is your student or advisee struggling to find success in their major?

Are they considering dropping out of Plymouth State or transferring to a different institution?

Send them over to Interdisciplinary Studies (IDS) to see if a customized major would help them achieve greater success and fulfillment.

IDS IS FLEXIBLE!

There are two required IDS courses, and then students can choose the rest of their 45 credits from anywhere across the university.

IDS IS SUPPORTIVE!

IDS is open all day, every weekday for drop-in advising and academic support. Our staff has significant experience with students at all levels of their college career, and many students who have previously been in trouble have seen greater engagement in classes and greater academic success when they were able to design their own path.

IDS CAN BE A GOOD MATCH FOR THOSE WHO NEED TO MAKE A CHANGE!

Over half of our majors enter IDS as upperclass students, and almost a third enter as seniors. Two-thirds of our graduating students report that they considered leaving PSU before they found IDS. Developing a major that fits their goals and aspirations can be the key to success for many students. The majority of IDS majors finish with a GPA of 3.0 or higher, and the program has a significantly higher than average rate of persistence.

If you know a student who feels that there are no good options for them to find academic success and fulfillment at PSU, consider sending them for a consultation. Together, we can offer options and give all students a chance to thrive academically and complete college with enthusiasm and pride.

Consultations are available M-F, 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. in Lamson 003 (Open CoLab).
No appointment necessary.
